The Newport News Community

The City of Newport News, located on a peninsula in the Hampton Roads region of Virginia where the James River meets the Chesapeake Bay, is the fourth largest independent city in Virginia, supporting a population of over 180,000 citizens. The City is part of the Virginia Beach-Norfolk-Newport News Metropolitan Statistical Area (the largest between Washington D.C. and Atlanta) and is strategically located at the mid-point of the Atlantic Coast. Originally incorporated in 1896 with a population of 9,000 and four square miles in size, Newport News is now 69 square miles and runs approximately 23 miles along the James River and the Hampton Roads Harbor.

Historically entrenched in the very founding of the United States, Newport News was named for Captain Christopher Newport of the Susan Constant, the lead ship of the three ship fleet that carried the Jamestown settlers to the new world in 1607. During the “starving time” of 1610, the original colonists abandoned Jamestown and encountered Captain Newport in the James River whereupon they learned that reinforcements of men and supplies had arrived, the good news prompting their return to Jamestown. The place where that meeting occurred eventually became known as Newport News to honor that historic occasion.

Since the late 1800s, city has been home to Newport News Shipbuilding, the largest industrial employer in Virginia and sole designer, builder and refueler of U.S. Navy aircraft carriers. Over the years, Newport News has grown to include a mix of commercial, manufacturing, military, international commerce, research and science and technology industries, serving as home to facilities such as Jefferson Lab, Canon Virginia and Fort Eustis.

The City offers public boat ramps, fishing piers, golf courses and recreation facilities and boasts 36 public parks, including Newport News Park, which is one of the largest municipal parks in the country at nearly 8,000 acres. Historic sites, museums, cultural facilities and public art compliment the excellent quality of life, creating a balanced and diversified community with access to high quality healthcare and education, including an award winning public school system and Christopher Newport University, a comprehensive, public liberal arts university.

The Organization

The City of Newport News operates under the council-manager form of government and is not part of a county. Policy-making and legislative authority is vested in a Council consisting of the Mayor and six other members, all elected on a non-partisan basis. The Council appoints the City Manager who carries out its policies, directs daily operations and appoints department heads who serve at the pleasure of the City Manager.

The City provides a full range of municipal services, including fire and police protection, juvenile detention, adult correction, sanitation, health and social services, public improvements, planning and zoning, water/wastewater services, general administrative services, education, recreational activities, cultural events, and the construction and maintenance of highways, streets and infrastructure.
